Jennings to attend Homecoming events

Homecoming festivities will be enhanced by famous TJC alumnus William Jennings.

Jennings is perhaps best known for his Academy Award winning song "Up Where We Belong," theme song for the box office smash, "An Officer And A Gentleman."

He will receive special recognition tomorrow at the second annual "Campus Capers" and at a reception and dance at 10:30 p.m. Friday in the Student Center.

Jennings, a Kilgore native, grew up in Chapel Hill and attended Chapel Hill High School.

At TJC he was a journalism major and member of the Apache Band and jazz ensemble, directed by Dr. Edwin Fowler, now associate vice president and dean of student affairs. Jennings later studied languages for one year at the University of Texas in Austin before earning B.A. and M.A. degrees at Stephen F. Austin State University in Nacogdoches in 1967.

The same year, he returned to teach at TJC before heading north to the University of Wisconsin at Eau-Claire. To pursue a songwriting career, he moved to Nashville, Tenn., 1971. Three years later, he moved to Los Angeles and the rest is history.

Since then, Jennings has written songs for such artists as Dionne Warwick, Barry Manilow, Randy Crawford, The Crusaders, and B.B. King. He has written scores for films including "Casey's Shadow," "Some Kind of Hero" with Richard Pryor and "The Competition."

Signs warn students

Signs posted at various places on campus reads, "I'm allergic to human heels don't tread on me." These signs may be lighthearted, but they are meant to be taken seriously. Students, faculty and staff could just as easily go a few steps further to the sidewalks, said Physical Plant Director Bill Parker.

President Raymond M. Hawkins authorized the signs. They were made by Brookshire Grocery Co. Sign Shop and installed by physical plant personnel.

Good comments have been made about the campus. "It takes everybody to make it look nice," said Parker.

Crews from the physical plant pick up trash and keep the campus looking good but could use the help of everyone.

This year's students are a "good bunch of students and the best bunch since I've been here," said Parker.

Show to be Saturday

A luncheon and style show in Jean Browne Theater is scheduled from 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Saturday.

This show features students and faculty wearing fashions from Tyler merchants. Sponsored by the Fashion Merchandising Club the show is coordinated by Instructor Beverly Bugay.

Admission is free.

The Home Economics Club will prepare and serve the luncheon, said Home Economics Instructor Rebecca Bibby.

It will be in the foyer of Watson W. Wise and Emma Wise Cultural Arts Center immediately after the style show. Bibby expects 150 to attend.

Comedy to be presented

The cast for Neil Simon's "Chapter Two" has been chosen. They are: Mark Morman as George Snider, Scotty Bryant as Leo Snider, Debbie Donalin as Jennifer Malone and Michelle Dierke as Faye Meidwick.

The play, a comedy directed by Speech/Drama Instructor Vic Siller, will be presented Dec. 1-6 at Jean Browne Theater.

Reserved seat tickets cost $1 for TJC students, $3 for adults, $2 for non-TJC students and $1 for senior citizens. The box office will be open beginning Nov. 8 from 10 a.m. until noon and from 2 p.m. until 5 p.m.

"Unfortunately students do not take advantage of activities provided for them by the college. We hope they will come to see this play," he said.

Students donate blood

The Shriner's Blood Drive for Stewart Blood Center collected 199 pints of blood. Last year's drive netted 247 pints. The blood drive was sponsored by the Student Senate.

Trophies and points were awarded to the fraternity, sorority and campus organization donating the most blood. The winners were: Delta Upsilon fraternity with 27 pints, San Souci sorority with 31 pints, and Epsilon Delta Psi with 12, said Student Activities Coordinator Emma Lou Prater.

In appreciation for the fall and spring blood drives, the Shriners allow TJC to use its Sharon Temple for the annual Valentine Dance.

Capers to open Friday

The second annual Campus Capers will open at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in Wise Auditorium. Admission to the gala event is free and 18 student acts have entered. They will compete for cash prizes of $300, $200 and $100 for first, second and third place, respectively. Winners will be chosen by a panel of five judges.

The Capers will be highlighted by introduction of Homecoming queen nominees and their escorts.

The five finalists chosen in the Tuesday election will be presented. One of them will be crowned Saturday night at the football game. The judges will also select a "most beautiful girl" from the queen nominees.

Master of Ceremonies will be Chuck Sowders II, last year's Student Senate president.

Judges are Robin Hood Brians, who wrote and recorded "Green-ville Avenue," owner of Robin Hood's Recording Studio in

Tyler; Donna Fouts, vice president of commercial lending at Interfirst Bank and former Apache

Belle who was voted most beautiful while attending TJC; Carolyn Westbrook, former elementary teacher and Tyler homemaker; Paul Grubb, who owns the Brass Lion and is the father of 1967 Miss Texas and Karen Graham, T.K. Gorman High School English teacher and director of the Crusaderettes drill team.

Alumni to appear in parade

The Apache Belles and Apache Band will lead the Homecoming parade tomorrow.

Five floats are entered in the parade which will line up at noon behind Wagstaff Gym. Organizations entering floats are: Association of Baptist Students, Physical Education Majors, Horticulture, Pi Kappa Alpha and Sans Souci and Zeta Phi Omega-Sigma Phi Epsilon.

Riding in the parade will be 33 queen nominees and their escorts. They will be introduced and the five finalists announced on Wise Plaza at the end of the parade.

Some special persons who will be appearing in the parade are men's and women's basketball teams, Dr. Raymond Van Cleef, vice president for educational and student services, Athletic Director Floyd Wagstaff, Head Football Coach Charlie McGinty, Apache Ladies Basketball Coach George Cox and Men's Basketball Coach Roy Thomas.

Other parade guests are: Alumni President Sheryl Patterson, Distinguished Alumnus Will Jennings, 1982 Homecoming Queen Paige Morris, Student Senate, Sophomore and Freshman class officers, cheerleaders, Apache football team, Assistant Football coaches Rick Langley and Delton Wright and State Representative David Hudson.

Senate finalizes plans

Final Homecoming preparations were the main business at the recent Student Senate meeting.

The Homecoming parade which begins at 1 p.m. tomorrow will line up behind Wagstaff Gym at noon, said Student Senate President Tim Worley. Five floats have been entered.

Campus Capers has 18 acts, said Freshman Class President Phillip Ambrose. The variety show will begin at 7:30 p.m. Friday in Wise Auditorium. Queen nominees and their escorts will be introduced between acts.

Immediately following Campus Capers a dance reception will be held in the Student Center, Worley said.

Dance exercise competition to benefit East Texas Crisis Center will be Nov. 12 in Gentry Gym. Organizations are encouraged to enter. Details are not yet available, said Worley.

Discount tickets for Plitt Theaters are available in the Student Activities Office, said Worley. These cost $2.25. Pizza Inn discount tickets are also available free to students, he said.

The Pajama Party was a success, announced Worley. Sheree Shelton and Jerry Rozelle were elected queen and king by those present.

EDITORIAL OPINION

Immaturity marks some

Vandalism. Webster defines it as the actions or attitudes of malicious or ignorant destruction of public or private property. It is an act of immaturity.

Though college-age students would prefer to be considered mature adults, some find ways to prove themselves to be otherwise.

Recurring evidence includes such things as soap in the fountain and restroom graffiti.

Most recently their immaturity has manifested itself in drawing moustaches and beards on Homecoming queen nominee photos posted in various locations. Such is not the action of a mature person.

Maturity does not automatically come with age. It is a state of mind evidenced through a person's words, actions, sensibilities and the ability to channel emotions in responsible directions.

For those students stricken with immaturity and expressing themselves through vandalism...it's time to grow up.

Freedoms serve all citizens

At times it seems that we Americans take the freedoms we enjoy too much for granted. Still, at other times some seem to think they are the only ones who are entitled to the privileges of our nation.

Freedom of press is guaranteed under the First Amendment of the Constitution, not to a few, but to all who live in this great nation.

It is a marvelous thing to be allowed to express personal ideas, feelings and opinions, especially through the medium of the printed word. These are individual concepts and, though another may agree in principle, these concepts are not likely to be universally shared.

The public is best served when these ideas and opinions are shared through a free-flowing press.

Ultimately, the freedoms of speech and assembly would have little meaning without freedom of the press. The written word reaches so many more people than word of mouth, so it has significant impact on those whose opinions are not yet shaped. It may also serve to alter the opinion of persons who may not yet have all the facts. It can create problem-solving discussion.

Members of the press must bear a great responsibility for accuracy and clarity. Yet, being human, such persons allow personal feelings to sift into their writing. Though this may not be ideal, it is an impossible situation to avoid so long as the press remains human.

The press are entitled to their opinions, both collectively and individually. Readers are also entitled to their opinions, whether they are the same or different. If this were not true, life would be very dull, and the work of reporters and editors would be uselessly redundant.

Survey shows

Students support Beirut,

By MICHAEL MITCHELL

Students revealed understanding and overwhelming support for the U.S. invasion of Grenada in a recent TJC News survey.

Another News-sponsored survey demonstrated similar support for the peace-keeping forces in Lebanon.

What do you understand about what has happened in Grenada?

A surprising 70 percent of those polled responded that they were aware of what U.S. goals and interests in Grenada were.

Detailed answers were judged by the editors on the student's accuracy, while simpler answers were judged on how much the student claimed to know.

Simple answers varied from Dedra Presley's "Nothing," to Quence Bookman's "Yes."

Complex answers ranged from Scott Rachui's comment, "We stomped a bunch of commies to the ground," to several long, detailed compositions on Central American affairs.

An equal number of males and females, 22 percent, said they did not understand what was going on in Grenada, while four percent are undecided, with one person not answering.

Do you think we should have sent the Marines there?

Well over half, 74 percent, responded "yes," while 21 percent said "no," with only five percent undecided.

Reasons include Accounting Major Ida Young's thoughts, "If

A prayer for peace...

By HARLAN SMITH

To God, to Christ, to Allah, to all the Saints above,
We pray for you, we grieve for you, for those that have died, for those that we love,
We send you our hope and our praises, for our countrymen, a world away in a place called Lebanon,
We hope that no more of our sons have left us when the last advisor, the last Marine has gone.
The issue is, indeed, great. Is it right or is it wrong?
Will democracy stand to protect the world? Of course it will, no matter how great the time, no matter how long,
Whether it is wrong or not, our blood has been shed,
And we will follow our banner, our heritage, for we follow as it has led,
For those radicals, those terrorists, who destroy the world's peace,
We wonder, we question why your horrors and atrocities will not cease.
For also those in Grenada, who for many reasons, defend our heritage, and our land,
We wish you to remember there is peace and brotherhood, shown through the ages as an out-stretched hand,
You are in a war-zone, fighting for democracy, for our American ideology,
Do not be afraid, for we share your fears no matter what may come, whatever may be,
Remember, without you here beside us, we are lost,
So, come home to us, be with us once more, no matter what the cost,
To God, to Christ, to Allah, to all the Saints above,
You are the ones we long for, above all others, you are the ones we cherish, you are the ones we love.

Marines see no increase from conflict

Events in Grenada and Beirut haven't affected Marine Corps recruiting in Tyler, Marine recruiter Staff Sgt. Gary Weaver said.

"We are getting a lot more calls from interested parents who are asking about the chances of their sons going into combat duty, but the men who call don't seem to be concerned that much about it," Weaver said.

Tyler has always been one of the top recruiting stations in the state, Weaver said. With two recruiters here, "we'll recruit about six people per month," he said.

Recruiters in the Dallas area have reported a surge in inquiries and enlistments since the terrorist attack on U.S. Marines in Lebanon and the invasion of Grenada.

"I foresee it to pick up. This is the best time of the year. We talk to a lot of high school seniors who graduate in May and are starting to think about their future, so October through March is when a lot of men go into our delayed entry program," he said.

Since Beirut the number of inquiries from acceptable enlistees has not increased much, though there are more calls from men on parole and "motorcycle tough guys," Weaver said.

"Beirut has made it harder on us. Kids are very patriotic, but we are getting a lot of pressure from parents," Weaver said.

Further information can be obtained by contacting the Marine recruiter listed under U.S. Government in the telephone book white pages.

Grenada action

Russia obtained use of the airstrip (on Grenada) it could be very disastrous for the U.S."

Do you feel any pressure on you as a draft age person because of this event?

Eighty percent said "no." Of the 16 percent who said "yes," Electrical Engineering Major Scott James comment seems to apply best; "... I want to finish my college education."

Only one was undecided and one did not answer the question.

Do you feel any inclination to enlist in any military service; if so, which one?

A large majority of 73 percent said "no." Of the 23 percent who said "yes" and indicated a preference, six chose the Marines, three the Air Force, two the Army and one the Navy.

In the second half of the News' survey dealing with Beirut, most had at least some vague idea of where it is, though some, like

Michelle Janssen of Sioux Falls, SD, were less specific by saying, "Over yonder."

Do you understand what has happened in Beirut?

Fifty percent said "yes." Forty six percent said "no," and four percent did not answer the question.

Do you think the Marines should stay there?

Seventy percent said "yes," most for reasons similar to Business Major Randy Deal's: "... the U.S. can't let communism spread."

The 28 percent who said "no," like Jody White, foreign language major, are afraid of this escalating into a major war. The remaining two percent were undecided or did not answer.

Overall, the surveys indicate understanding of these current events and a support of the government's policies.

SIGN UP--The new electronic sign above the cafeteria entrance transmits college messages as well as advertisements, news, sports and current events. It was provided at no cost to TJC by Bruner Broadcasting Company of Dallas.

Several other college campuses also have these devices. They are used as a promotional gimmick for the broadcasting company as well as an informative tool that can be useful to everyone, said Student Activities Coordinator Emma Lou Prater.

Prater said there is a possibility of an additional message machine being placed in Pirtle Technology Center in the near future.

New procedures to save time at registration, Lewis says

Early advisement and issuing of time permits for spring registration began Monday in the Admissions and Counseling offices. The process will continue until Nov. 18.

New procedures have been designed to help cut down on long and tedious problems involved in past registrations, Admissions Dean Kenneth Lewis said.

One improvement will be that all students are required to obtain time permits so they will be able to move through registration quickly.

Another improvement will be the availability of suggested curriculars for liberal arts degrees. These will help students interested in going on to four-year programs, said Counselor Betty Plyler.

The curriculum sheets will be located outside the Counseling Center in Jenkins Hall. Students are urged to select a course of study towards his or her degree.

"Students are not required to sit down and talk to us but we will be available to anyone and everyone who needs our help," said Plyler.

"Also, in hopes of aiding the student, senior college catalogs will be in the Vaughn Library and Learning Resources Center so a student will be able to see what courses he or she may take to transfer to their preferred senior college," Plyler added.

Though actual registration does not get under way until Nov. 21, students are urged to go by the Counseling Center and get time permits because no student will be accepted without a time permit.

The remaining schedule for registration includes:

Nov. 21--Early registration (except during Thanksgiving holidays).

Dec. 5-Jan. 11---
Advisement and issuing of time permits for regular registration, except during Christmas and New Year's holidays.

Jan. 12---Regular registration.
Jan. 16-19---Late registration.

Moms ask 'What next?'

Some choose college

By JEANETTE KRESS

Twelve years ago she walked across a crowded stage, proudly receiving her high school diploma. Since that time, her life has been busy with wedding bells, baby rattles, sock mending and mortgage signing--all the responsibilities of being a wife and mother.

But now the kids are in school, hubby is busy with work and golf games and soap operas are constantly getting worse. "What now?" she wonders.

Many women have asked themselves this question and many have found going back to school is the answer.

"I decided I needed to improve myself," Wanda Bowden said. "Furthering my education was the best way I could think of for doing just that."

Although Bowden didn't find coming back to school a drastic change, she admits the morning routine is no longer routine.

"It's a mad rush in the morning trying to get everyone ready and off on time," she said.

Such mass confusion is common in other households as well. For Sherry Shamburger, mother of two, 5 a.m. is when her day begins.

"I usually clean house, get myself ready, wake the kids up, fix breakfast and then, after taking the kids to school, I'm on my way," she said.

Because of their busy lifestyles, most mother/students agree the key to success is managing time. Art Major Carolyn Brown believes this was one of the hardest things she had to learn. With a morning that begins very early, Brown does a full day's work at home before she starts her full day's work at school.

"I must make every minute count," she said. "I don't even have time to watch TV anymore. In fact, my needlepoint is even gone," she laughed.

While most mother/students agree they can handle the hustle and bustle, they admit they could not make it without the support of their families.

"I really depend on my husband," Betty Monse said. "He doesn't believe in the word 'can't' so he is teaching me not to believe in it either."

Blessed with a positive disposition, this business major is not only a mother but a grandmother.

"My granddaughter thinks it's just great to have a grandmother in school," she said.

Some mothers receive something besides simple gratitude from their kids. Carolyn Averitt is a prime example.

"My kids think it's so great having me in school, they even compete with me," she said.

Like many others, Averitt has found the transition from housework to homework a change for the better.

"I can really understand my own teenagers now because I can see where their viewpoint comes from," she said.

Even though it's been a long time since that high school graduation day, most mother/students have found bookwork to be a blessing in disguise.

In fact, Shamburger is so happy with her new way of life, she said, "I think school is so exciting I may keep going forever!"

Art show to feature faculty talent

A faculty art exhibit will be presented Saturday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the lobby of Genecov Science and Arts Building. Refreshments will be served at that time.

This is only the second faculty art exhibit ever to be held at TJC, said Art Coordinator Charles Cavanaugh. It provides the art faculty an opportunity to display their talents.

Faculty contributing work to the show include: Jacqueline Adams, Wynoma Johnson, Ann Miller, Charline Wallis, Nancy McCain, Martha Vaughan and Cavanaugh.

Cavanaugh is expecting a large turnout because of guests expected to attend Homecoming activities scheduled the same day.

Rhodes, Lowrimore win 1st in club tryouts

The first of three tryouts for the High Achievement Fitness Club was held recently.

Debbie Rhodes achieved the best distance for women by covering 4,520 yards in the 20-minute period. Rhodes is a former high school state qualifier with a best time of 5:24 in the mile run. She is a nursing major at Texas Eastern School of Nursing.

Best male competitor was Ricky Lowrimore, who, with a distance of 5,400 yards outshone his opponents. Lowrimore's previous track experience was back in seventh grade. He is majoring in veterinary medicine.

The Club is open to all freshman enrolled in health and physical education classes.

So far response to the club has been a steady rise and Physical Education Instructor Nancy Laird, who is coordinating the activities, is optimistic.

"The students we have are very competitive and have shown great enthusiasm in what they are accomplishing," Laird said.

The tryouts consisted of 20-minute walk/jog/run, with each competitor covering as much distance as possible in the allotted time. The best individuals from the October tryout range from former high school track team competitors to a grandmother who had never competed in any other sport before.

Others recognized for the October session were Jennifer Jarrard, Michelle Waddell, Sherry Randenberg, Darnell Strange, Judy Esparza, Amy Tollett, Cathey Newman, Evelyn Kingsley, Anita Birdsell and Penny Pittman.

Also included were Margaret Yates, Judy Fitzgerald, Shelia Williams and LaJoyce McMillan.

In the male competition, the list included Victor Shirley, Kenneth Simon, Mark Foster, Zack Brown and Bret Dodgen.

"What we are trying to accomplish is to get rid of the anxiety people have that goes along with running. We want to promote running as a way to get into shape and also get people to start a habit of it," said Laird.

TJC sports limited

TJC is one of the largest junior colleges in the state, but it is limited in some sports. TJC does not have track, volleyball or baseball teams.

"We do not have a track for a track team and we would not have anyone to run against in our conference," explained Intercollegiate Athletic Director Floyd Wagstaff.

"In baseball there are five teams in our conference and we have discussed getting one. We are not against it. We are really for it, but there is a strong feeling among the educators of Texas that we are missing too many classes for sports. Baseball is a sport that takes an athlete out of class more than other sports. Therefore I doubt we will start the sport in the near future," Wagstaff said.

"Personally I would like to see TJC have the sport, but regardless of what people say, there's not enough attendance at baseball games," Wagstaff said.

In Texas all volleyball teams are women's teams and there are no teams in our conference. The closest team would be San Jacinto College and that is 210 miles away.

If we have enough demand for these sports, Wagstaff said, we would have to discuss the pros and cons of them before they could be added.

Apaches meet HCJC Saturday, tough game expected

Saturday night in Rose Stadium, two of the conference's hottest rivals will clash in a head to head battle. From all indications, the Apaches and the Henderson County Junior College Cardinals will continue the hard-nosed tradition of football between the two teams.

"It's going to be a tough ballgame because Henderson County has a good team and they are not going to lay down and play dead when we get there," said Head Football Coach Charlie McGinty.

"In past years HCJC has been tough, but when I played they were not that good, but whenever TJC and Henderson County get together, you can be sure you will attend a whale of a ballgame," McGinty said.

This year's clash comes at a time when the Apaches are well in to what may be a championship season.

Part of the reason for this is because of TJC's high-powered offense which is rated No. 1 in the conference. Anchored by freshman tailback Ronnie Ducksworth, conference leader with more than 1000 yards, the offense is the talk of the conference.

Another major factor for the highly productive offense is the connection between Quarterback Brent Chism and speedy Receiver Henry "Thrill" Hill.

Chism, though not the starting quarterback at the beginning of the season, has come on to lead the Apaches into championship contention.

Through seven games this season, Chism had thrown for 733 yards and seven touchdowns. He has completed 52 of 133 attempts.

"Brent has come on to prove that he is a good leader and a clutch player," said McGinty.

Hill is from Byrd High School in Shreveport where he made all-district for two years and all-state once.

"Henry is by no doubt the best receiver in our conference. He will be highly recruited by the senior colleges," McGinty said.

"We are right where we should be as a team and I think if we can hold our own the next couple of games, we should be able to take it all," Hill said smiling.

The quick and agile receiver leads the league with a 22-yard per catch average. Known to his teammate and around the campus and the conference as "Thrill," he boasts that he acquired the nickname before famed Dallas Cowboy receiver Tony "Thrill" Hill.

Team to reminisce

By LOREN HENDERSON

Twenty five years ago, the Apache football team quarterbacked by Billy Black defeated Henderson County Junior College handily, 36-0.

That same team went on to play Boise State of Idaho for the national championship.

Though Boise State defeated the Apaches 22-0, the Tribe still managed to post a 9-2 season record.

Twenty five years later, Black reminisces about the '58 football team who will have a reunion at Homecoming.

"We had a very successful year despite the loss to Boise State," said Black, now a successful Tyler businessman. "I had some great times at TJC and if it had been a four-year college, I would never have left.

Black told how TJC was ranked No. 1 in the South and how they defeated Kilgore College in the Homecoming game.

"I remember Rose Stadium being packed with 50,000 people who came to see us play Kilgore. The rivalry was big then just like it is today," he said.

"Today players are used to play a specific position, whereas back then you had to play defense and offense. It's much different now. The players are much stronger and faster because of better programs such as weight use. Back then we never lifted a weight," he said.

Intercollegiate Athletic Director Floyd Wagstaff coached that team assisted by Babe Hallmark.

"Coach Wag was a major factor to our success. He could always find a way to bring out the best in a person. He is a super coach, a super individual and a super man," Black said.

Other team members include: Larry Bower, Monroe Brewer, Riley Burnett, Larry Corley, Leon Fuller, Wayne Earp, Tommy Fullerton, Wilbert Gorka, Jim Hill and Frank Holley.

Also on the team were: Ned Jolley, Ted Holley, James Leroy, Anthony Lusk, Don Keasler, Lanny Money, Don Murphy, Jack Murphy, Nick Nichols, Jerry Northcutt and Carl Otte.

Season looks promising, says Coach Menasco

"The intramural volleyball season is looking very promising," said Intramural Coach J.D. Menasco.

In the women's league Crusaders and Bandits are undefeated with three wins each. Standings are:

Team	Won	Lost
Crusaders	3	0
Bandits	3	0
Clovers	2	1
BSU	1	2
Souci	0	3

"In the men's league nearly all the teams are equal," said Menasco. The only undefeated team in the men's league is the Apache Band. The only team with a chance to spoil Band's unbeaten record is the Sigma Phi Epsilon A team. The game has already been played and results will be in next week's paper.

Men's teams standings are:

Eastern Conference	Won	Lost
Band	3	0
Pikes	3	1
Warriors	1	2
Last Minutes	1	3
Western Conference	Won	Lost
BSU	3	1
Robos	3	1
Crusaders	2	2
Corneus Nothus	1	2
Sig Eps	1	2

The men's championship game will be at 3 p.m. today in Gentry Gym. Intramural information about other sports is available in Wagstaff Gym 103.

Bulldog win dims hope for outright title

For the second time this season, the Navarro Bulldogs defeated the Apaches, 24-14, thus dimming any chance the Apaches have to win the Texas Junior College Football Conference championship outright.

Like the last time these two teams met, turnovers proved to be the downfall of the Apaches. The Tribe led the Bulldogs in both total yardage (349-314) and first downs (19-14).

The Apaches had seven total miscarriages including five interceptions by Quarterback Brent Chism.

Things started out wrong for the Apaches as they fumbled the ball on their first possession. This happened after Navarro jumped out to an early 3-0 lead in first quarter action. The fumble enabled Bulldog tailback Luther Turner to score again before the half was over, giving Navarro a 10-0 advantage.

Things did not look as if they would improve as the second half of play began.

Navarro fumbled the ball in the Apache end zone, and just when it looked like TJC would recover, Bulldog Stanley Cook outthrustled everyone and smothered the ball to extend the Navarro lead to 17-0.

The Apaches then put their first points on the board when Ronnie Ducksworth scored twice within the span of three minutes to diminish the lead to 17-14. His touchdowns came on a 14-yard pass from Chism and on a 11-yard run made possible by a Wilbert Jefferson interception of Bulldog Ronald Turner's pass.

Just as it seemed the Apaches would make a thrilling comeback, Navarro thwarted an Apache drive. Cornerback Darron Kirven intercepted Chism's pass and scampered 76 yards to paydirt, giving Navarro the victory.

Ducksworth finished the game with 180 yards on 40 carries as he continues his 1,289-yard running assault to lead the league in rushing.

The Apaches now go into their Homecoming game against Henderson County Junior College Saturday night at Rose Stadium with their backs against the walls.

The Apaches must win their remaining two games this season and Navarro must lose their two games if the Tribe has any hopes of post-season play.

DOGS BITE APACHES--Apache Running Back Ronnie Ducksworth sprints to the outside for yardage against the Navarro Bulldogs. The Tribe lost their first conference game to Navarro Saturday night.

Ladies tennis team wins, Sunde leads winners

The Ladies tennis team beat Louisiana Tech and Mississippi State universities before losing to Northeastern State University.

TJC beat Louisiana Tech 9-0. The victory was led by No. 1 Ladies player Astrid Sunde who beat Alicia Saars, 6-2, 6-2.

Other winners were Linda Scogins who defeated Lee Todd, 6-1, 6-0; Cori Laurent, who defeated Tracey Dunn, 7-5, 7-5; Geraldine von Demleux, who defeated Jeannie Weber, 6-2, 6-1; Joanna Nichols defeated Helene Chemaly, 6-3, 6-1 and Stella von Troil who defeated Cindy Delgado, 6-0, 6-3.

Doubles teams who won were Sunde-Scogin who defeated Saars-Todd, 6-4, 6-2; Laurent-von Troil who beat Dunn-

Chemaly, 7-5, 6-4 and von Demleux-Nichols who defeated Dumas-Delgado, 6-3, 4-6, 6-0.

TJC swept Mississippi State, 9-0.

Ladies tripped up against the Northeastern State team who defeated TJC, 9-3.

The three winners for the Ladies were: Linda Scogin who defeated Colleen O'Connell, 6-1, 6-3; Geraldine von Demleux who defeated Michele Ruschaupt, 3-6, 6-2, 6-4 and Joanna Nichols who defeated Julie Adams, 6-1, 6-3.

Aerobics benefit health

By MICHELLE JANSSEN

The 1980's are a decade of exercise, one of the most popular of which is aerobics. Aerobics relieves stress and statistics prove it helps you to live longer, said Psychology Instructor Rebecca Laughlin. Some faculty are enrolled in an aerobics class Laughlin teaches.

Laughlin is a firm believer in aerobics. In addition to the faculty class, she teaches employees at the Mental Health and Mental Retardation Center, at Tyler Racquetball Club and a group in Bullard.

The best male athlete is a male dancer, Laughlin believes, because they must have muscles and be flexible too.

Although the faculty class includes no males, she does teach men in the Racquetball Club class.

Aerobics is more difficult for men, she said, because their muscles are not used to the stretching. Laughlin would like to encourage faculty men to take her aerobics class and to see the football team do aerobics to warm-up for practice.

Laughlin's interest in aerobics developed about five years ago when she saw it on television. At that time she was so overweight, she wanted to try it. She started working out at Figure World and was so successful she became a Figure World commercial. Her interest grew in aerobics and she attended more sessions.

She became a certified aerobics instructor just a few weeks ago when she earned certification from the Texas Aerobics Institute. She had waited for a long time, she said, because she wasn't satisfied with the places available for certification until the formation of this institute.

Aerobics are calisthenics done to music, Laughlin said. "Many types of exercise are done to music but in aerobics, unlike other music-based exercise, you don't have to have rhythm."

"When you start aerobics you probably won't be able to do everything right away," said Laughlin, but she encourages beginners to stick with it. She tells those who start her class, "if you can't do everything, just keep moving," and she helps them modify the routines.

For persons who can't or just won't go to an aerobics class but would like to do the workout at home, Laughlin recommends Joanie Greggains. Her music is very up-to-date and range from rock 'n' roll to classical. Laughlin has tried Jane Fonda, Jackie Sorenson and Linda Fratianne, but likes Greggains best.

Aerobics to aid Center

Fraternities and sororities will have a men against women exercise war at 9 a.m. Nov. 12 in Gentry Gym.

The aerobics marathon will last until 3 p.m., Psychology Instructor Rebecca Laughlin said, and the money raised will go to the East Texas Crisis Center. The Center provides help for victims of family violence, sexual assault and child abuse or suicide.

Anyone can enter, but without pledges it will cost a small fee. Those who would like to enter should contact Student Activities Coordinator Emma Lou Prater for an entry form or come to Gentry Gym when the marathon begins.

Those who would like to enter but don't think they can make it all day, can exercise in teams, Laughlin said.
